WASHINGTON, D. C., JULY 1.—United States government tonight foresaw no real immediate crisis in American-Mexican relations, founded only on deduction rather than on actual official news.

The belief was that Carranza does not intend to defy the United States. He was still silent, however.

An American friend of Carranza received word today that "Carranza's tone will be firm without being defiant," and that the Mexican statemen will be that "The Wilson regime has infringed on Mexican sovereignty," without making a break inevitable.

MEXICO CITY, JULY 1.—Attacking the entire Mexican policy of the American government, accusing the United States of bad faith, and in several instances giving the lie direct, a memorandum, said to be identical with the Carranza reply to the United States' ultimatum, was given out by the foreign office here last night.

The note declares that the United States troops must be withdrawn at once, expresses disbelief of the American protestations of friendship, and asks how, if the United States cannot maintain an adequate protection of its border, it can expect Mexico to do so.

The president's demand for a declaration of Carranza's intentions regarding American troops in Mexico is not directly answered.

Nellie Bond Issue Wins

By a vote of three to one Nellie village voters voted in favor of the proposed $4,000 bond issue for the erection of an addition to the present high school building. The final count of the votes showed that the issue had carried by a vote of 33 to 10.

The village has a second grade school but under a recent ruling of the state school authorities was confronted by the necessity of enlarging the present quarters in order to maintain its present standing with the state authorities. The bond issue was deemed the only way to provide for the exigency.

Load Of Hay Catches Auto

Did you ever hear of an automobile being kidnapped by a load of hay? Well, it came near happening on Chestnut street Saturday afternoon. A Buick car with Ohio license No. 125,229 stood along the north curb of the court house square, peacefully resting in the shade, when a load of hay came along. In order to pass an approaching automobile the driver of the load of hay pulled far over and in so doing the Buick caught under the overhanging load. Up the street went hay and automobile, until people on the sidewalk told the man on the wagon that an automobile was stealing a ride. He stopped and made it let loose of his wagon, of course.

WILLIS ASKS OHIOANS TO GIVE RELIEF

Says People Should Care For Families Of The Soldiers

GOVERNOR APPEALS FOR PROMPT ACTION

Citizens Should See To It That All Are Protected Against Want

COLUMBUS, OHIO, JULY 1.—An appeal to the people of Ohio to at once take steps to care for the families of the soldiers of the state needing assistance, was issued Saturday by Governor Willis, commander-in-chief of the National Guard.

It is recommended that this relief be provided for thru local chambers of commerce, charitable organizations or bodies organized especially for the purpose.

"It is hoped that in every community from which soldiers are enlisted, the citizens will at once see to it that the families of these men are protected against want," said the governor.

The people of the state are urged to act before the soldiers leave for the front so that they will be assured that their dependents will not be in distress.

The governor said that he noted with satisfaction and pride that a number of organizations already were making provisions for the care of families needing such help, and commended them.

Not Mendicants

He pointed out that the soldiers are not mendicants, but that many of them, having been suddenly called out by their country, have been unable to properly prapera for their families' future.

Dixon Arrested On Grave Charge

Finley, according to Pennsylvania railroad employes, was bumming his way on a freight. He was notified to leave the freight at Trinway and did not do so. Then he was put off and it is said in a spirit of revenge placed the railroad tie on the track. The first train passing over this track was a fast train and it threw the tie to one side, doing no damage.

British-French Offensive Makes Decided Headway

The Allied Troops Break Through German Lines In France For More Than Five Miles—Terrific Fighting In Progress—Outcome Of War May Depend On Result of Present Clash.

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, ENG., JULY 1.—Smashing eastward, in the greatest allied offensive since the battle of the Marne, the British today rolled back the Germans along a front of more than 16 miles and gained a distance of six miles. The battle continues with the greatest violence tonight.

The towns of Mametz, Serre and La Boiselle are known to have been captured in the mighty rush of the English troops. An unconfirmed report tonight is that the town of Fricourt was captured this afternoon.

French forces captured the town of Curlu, and had late this afternoon made a gain of more than two miles on the Germans.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, JULY 1—Reports received from the front up to 12:30 o'clock, five hours after the combined French and British offense was launched, showed that the allies had captured the towns of LaBoiselle, Serre and Montauban, important tactical points, and Curlu and Faviere woods.

The main first line trenches over the entire front under attack are reported to have been formed and at various points the fighting has reached the main second line.

These reports show that the French and British, at the points of their furthest advances, have broken thru a distance of more than five miles beyond the first German trenches. Montauban is five and one-half miles east of the old British front and Curlu wood is six miles east-southeast of Albert.

Reports from the front indicate that the important German position at Fricourt may be cut off.

Bulge In British Line.

The sector of the German front on which the British have assumed the offensive forms a considerable bulge in the British line. The southern end rests on the Somme, which is a formidable river in military operations because it breaks into many channels flowing thru a broad marsh, which at places has not been surveyed.

It is a broad rolling country over which the British are pushing altogether different from the flat, marshy and bleak aspect of Flanders. Its rounded chalk hills are densely wooded.

At many points on this section of the British front it is possible to see the trenches of the Germans, winding about the opposite slopes.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, JULY 1.—Great Britain's long-awaited offensive against the Germans in France has been launched. At the moment when Russia's mighty army is continuing its drive in the eastern theater and Italy is pouring its men forward against the Austrians, England is opening its terrific smash. For this attack Great Britain has been preparing for two years.

Every effort of the late Lord Kitchener was directed toward gaining success in this plunge against the German lines. Lord Kitchener as well as other leaders of the allies, believed that the outcome of the war would be decided in the western theater.

The attack of the English was launched at half past seven o'clock

Score Enlisted Saturday Night

After an hour's program of martial music by the Coshocton Drum corps and a street parade headed by the colors borne by "Cutey" Clark, who had volunteered his services at Dayton but was rejected at the final examination because of defective eyesight, enthusiasts, who are back of the movement to start a National Guard company in Coshocton, repaired to the City hall where the names of those who wished to enroll in the new company were transcribed.

For some reason or other due probably to the fact that many from out of the city were engaged at work all day, the number secured was not as large as had ben anticipated. About a score of names were secured from within the city. Captain D. G. Stitts was not at all discouraged as he has more than the required who have pledged their enlistment. These will be asked to sign the transcribed roll in order that it may be forwarded to Columbus at once.

An attorney, angered because of an adverse ruling by the judge, left the courtroom remarking to another lawyer that "the judge was an ass and shouldn't be on the bench." Before the case ended the judge heard of the remark and called the attorney before him. "I hear," he said, "that you called me an ass and said I ought not to be on the bench." "Sure," replied the quick-witted attorney. "Anybody with your profound knowledge of law is an ass to be on the bench. You ought to be practicing before the bar, where your talents could be cashed into big money."

PLAYING GRANDMA

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Mildred, do you know how old you are?"

It was Mildred Bennett herself, who, with a ladylike yawn, laid aside her book and answered:

"Almost as old as Methuselah."

"And do you know that you ought to have been married two or three years ago? Here you are twenty-two years old, and, as far as you have told me, you have not even been in love yet. What is the matter, dear?"

"Well, grandma, there's a good many things the matter. I am a sort of talk fiancee; I talk war."

"Pshaw, Mildred. You are too hard on yourself. Go put on your hat and take a long walk."

"Yes, I guess I will," was the answer, and with the words a bright little thought flashed into the girl's brain, and her eyes sparkled with fun.

"If I am old enough to match Methuselah's age I am old enough to wear spectacles and be a grandma," laughed the girl as she took off her own outfit and brought from grandma's room a different one.

When attired in grandma's best the deception was a fair one.

Once outside of the gate she headed down the road and began at once to practice the gait that naturally goes with old age. There was a small grove beside the highway a quarter of a mile away, which she was bound for.

Miss Mildred reached the grove without adventure, but one was coming and close at hand. She took a seat on a log and was wondering if anything further would happen, when something did. A man came out of the woods on the other side of the highway, and, as he saw her, he stopped and asked:

"Grandma, did you see a rabbit run across the road here? I want to shoot one and get one of its feet for luck."

"No; I didn't," was the reply as the girl noticed that the man had a gun and from his bearing was evidently from the city.

"Well, there goes my chance," sighed the young man, who was evidently about twenty-five years old, as he came across the road and sat down on the same log and wiped the perspiration from his forehead.

Miss Mildred turned a shoulder to him to hide her face as much as possible, but after a minute he continued:

"Grandma, do you believe there's any luck in carrying a rabbit's foot?"

"There may be," was the muffled rejoinder.

"I have an old grandma myself," said the man after a pause of a minute or two. "She keeps to the old fashioned ways, same as you do, and we never try to modernize her. I beg your pardon when I say that your attire is not only unique, but very becoming. Might I ask without rudeness how old you are?"

"I feel about a hundred and twenty-five years old," replied Miss Mildred.

"Well, that's a good old age," said the stranger with a laugh, "and I hope you'll live to be a hundred and fifty. I hope I have not intruded, but I must go now. I want to get that rabbit if possible."

And Brian Moore, who did live in the city and was out in the country for a week's holiday, rose up and lifted his hat and went on. When he was out of sight Miss Mildred lifted her spectacles and placed them on the log beside her and laughed heartily for the next ten minutes. She must go back and tell Grandma Parsons about it, and she did go back, but when she rose up to go she left the spectacles behind her. She had been in the house ten minutes or more, and she and grandma were making merry over the adventure, when a knock was heard at the front door.

"I'll see who is there," said the girl, and, forgetting that she still wore the ancient costume which she had donned when she set out for the grove, she walked through the hall and at the door she came face to face with the man who was hunting a rabbit's foot. He started back at sight of her, and she started back at sight of him. He recovered first, and, handing out the spectacles, he demurely said, and smiled as he said it:

"Please, grandma, but you left your spectacles behind on the log. I had to go back there to see if the rabbit had taken refuge under it."

Miss Mildred reached out and took the spectacles, but she did not thank him. She tried to, but failed. Instead of thanks, she [illegible] herself saying:

"You look tired [illegible]. Shan't I bring you a glass of water?"

"If you please," [illegible].

The water was [illegible], and then the two sat down on the veranda, and when the girl confessed her crime with many a blush and giggle, and the young man confessed that he was not after rabbits, there was talk of other matters.

How should such a adventure end? The answer came three months after when Grandma Parsons said to her granddaughter:

"Mildred, Mr. Moore has been calling here at intervals ever since he looked for the rabbit. Has he been looking for something else?"

And the girl kissed her and hid her face on her shoulder and replied in a whisper:

"I guess, grandma, he is looking for me and I hope it will bring him more luck than a rabbit's foot."

CURIOUS CORDOBA.

This Spanish Town Is So Compact It Looks Like One Building.

Cordoba is scheduled on the European itinerary as a half day stand. Those who go from Seville to Granada and those who go from Granada to Seville take Cordoba on their way. Fifteen minutes for the cathedral, five for the alcazar, an hour for luncheon and on to further discoveries—that is the Cordoba program. The hotels of Cordoba are, in consequence, unpalatial, a circumstance in itself which endears the little town to the judicious. I do not believe there is a lift in all Cordoba, and if your wife wishes for any reason to buy a new hat she must go out of the hotel for it, and then it will be three years old.

At night all the tourists are gone to Seville or Granada, and you and the Cordobans and the stars share the amenities of Cordoba's one boulevard, of which everybody is very proud, because it is much superior to anything that Paris or even Madrid can show. It was a lucky chance which caused them to build Cordoba so handily between Seville and Granada. It has provided a still little backwater for the traveler's repose, a spot where he may forget that American bars exist, eat his meals untroubled by the squeaking of a tango band and adventure himself among the mysteries of a bill of fare jelly printed in blue and illegible Spanish.

You could put your hat over Cordoba, and very little would protrude. It is the compactest little town. From the tower of the cathedral it all looks like one building. You can hardly perceive the streets, so closely do they wriggle among the houses. The roofs are yellow, brown, gray, red; the walls and their shadows every color in the world. Among the buildings the green of palms, orange trees, lemon trees, chestnuts, soothe the glare struck eye. The Guadalquivir snakes through its rich plains from the faraway flat hills (red, gray brown, yellow), and over all are the great sky of the south and the huge sun of the south, which imposes silence on the world till night shall set the guitars a-buzzing.—William Caine in Century.

Fearlessness a Virtue.

From one cause or another we shrink from the responsibility of avowing our deepest convictions. Partly it is from the fear of ostentation and singularity, partly from self-distrust and sincere humility, partly from more unworthy motives. But from whatever cause it may be, by so doing we wrong our friends.—B. F. Westcott.

URGES EVERYONE TO QUICKLY GET ON WATER WAGON

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

CAUSE OF RHEUMATISM.

Cavities Holding Pus, It Is Claimed, Breed the Dread Ailment.

In the American Magazine is an article on rheumatism by Dr. Arthur R. Reynolds, who says:

"The cause of rheumatism is pus formed and imprisoned in some part of the body. It gets into the circulation and is carried by it to the region affected. These pus places may be in spots more or less closed up, so they are not easily drained. They may be located about the teeth, at the end of the roots of dead or diseased teeth, in the crypts of the tonsils, in some of the sequestered places in the nostrils, in the bony sinuses of the head. They may be in the bladder, the kidney, the gall ducts or other places. The pus producing spot may be as small or smaller than a pea or it may be larger. Its existence is frequently unknown to the patient, especially if it be hidden in soft tissue like the tonsil. It may even exist in the bony socket of a tooth without giving pain.

"Several different organisms produce pus, and any or all may produce rheumatism when transferred to the joints or the heart.

"The physician today seeks for the pus cavity when he meets a patient with rheumatism, and he endeavors to clean it up. Rheumatic pains have been stopped with magical promptness by simply extracting the offending tooth. It is not always easy to find the pus places in the hidden parts of the body. The X ray shadowgraph is essential in locating the trouble. It shows definitely and accurately all trouble about the roots of the teeth, and its use is therefore of the first importance in ferreting out the pus in the deep structures."

Pomerene Passes Law Examination

Warner M. Pomerene, son of W. R. Pomerene of Columbus, Ohio, was one of the 216 successful law students passing the State examination for admission to the bar, held at Columbus this week. Of the 274 students who took the examination, 215 passed. Those who passed were sworn in Saturday morning by Chief Justice Nichols, of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Mr. Pomerene is a student in the College of Law at the Ohio State University, and has just completed his junior year; altho he has another year of college work before graduation, he passed the State examination with a high grade, doing so in competition with the seniors from the college of law of the Ohio State University, the Cincinnati Law school, Western Reserve, Ann Arbor, Chicago and Columbus.

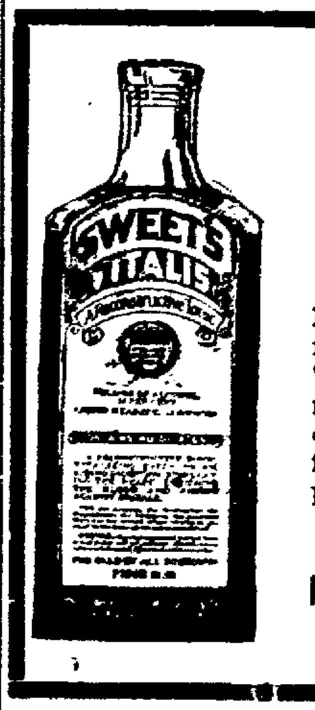

It is understood that Mr. Pomerene expects to spend the summer in the law office of F. E. Pomerene in Coshocton, and will return to Ohio State in September to complete his senior year and graduate with his class next June.

LET THOSE WHO FAVOR WAR STAND UP

Out of all the weary mass of assertions and denials, misrepresentation and fraud, half lies and near facts that have been evolved out of the present Mexican crisis ONE FACT STANDS OUT ABOVE ALL THE REST:

THIS COUNTRY WANTS NO WAR WITH MEXICO.

At any time there are always a few politicians of the Joe Cannon type, set and garrulous, who rave for war on every occasion. Then there are the munition makers whose only known brand of patriotism is spelled p-r-o-f-i-t-s, who would also be dee-lighted with the coming of war. The professional soldiers naturally crave war. It's their business.

But aside from these classes there is no real demand in this country for war with Mexico. You can hear a lot of fellows sitting around on store boxes who are eternally talking about what "We" ought to do. "We" have got to fight; "We" have taken enough off of those greasers; "We" don't propose to stand this any longer; and "We" are just going down there and wipe Mexico off the map. There is talk of that kind and to spare flying around all the time.

But did you ever hear one of these gentlemen with the big "We" substitute that significant, purposeful little pronoun "I" for the "We?" Did you ever hear one of them say "I AM GOING TO ENLIST" "I" am going to wipe Mexico off the map?

That one little sentence: "I AM GOING TO ENLIST" would make the biggest mouthful any of them ever tackled.

The big, significant fact about this war—AND THE FACT THAT A LOT OF FAT-HEADED POLITICIANS HAD BETTER WISE UP TO PRETTY SHORTLY—is that there is absolutely no enthusiasm in this country about going to war with Mexico.

No one is enlisting. The papers are crowded with the fact that mere boys of 16, beardless kids, children not out of high school, youths still in knickerbockers, are not only eligible, but welcome at all recruiting stations.

Men 45 and decrepit, men stiffened with rheumatism, men divorced from both hair and teeth in the dim and misty past, are equally welcome at the recruiting stations—but in vain.

They don't come. Neither youth or old age can stir up any martial ardor in this proposed war with Mexico. There are a lot of us strong on this "We" stuff, but we're all soft-pedaling in the use of the pronoun "I."

A lot of owl-visaged newspapers, fat-headed and standpat to the heart, are gravely lecturing the government because the physical requirements for enlistment are too severe. THEY ARE ALSO BAWLING OUT THE PEOPLE FOR THEIR LACK OF PATRIOTISM, but as usual, these papers are on wrong.

There is absolutely no occasion for war with Mexico. There have been fifty "greasers" killed on this side the Rio Grande in the last forty years for every American killed below that stream only the papers on this side don't play up that fact. They are only "greasers" and don't amount to a whoop.

Not only that, but another ominous fact serves to explain the lack of interest in the war we have tried to conjure up. Why are we so careful of the lives of Americans abroad and so criminally negligent of them here at home?

In the name of PROFITS we permit Privilege to kill more children in the cotton mills of the south and the sweat shops of the north every year than Mexico has killed of our people in her entire history. For the lack of decent sanitation and reasonable precaution the tariff-favored industries of New England kill more American citizens yearly than were killed in battle the most sanguinary year of the Civil war!

Yet the metropolitan papers which have nagged continuously at Taft and Wilson for the last six years don't tell you these things. They don't want you to know them. AND WHEN THEY SAY THE PRESENT REFUSAL OF OUR PEOPLE TO ENLIST INDICATES "A DEPLORABLE LACK OF PATRIOTISM," THEY LIE.

There is no lack of patriotism in this country. The citizens of no country since the beginning of recorded history that were given halfway decent treatment by their government ever failed their government in the hour of need.

If this country were in peril of foreign invasion; if an attempt were to be made by a foreign power to invade the constitutional liberties of our people; if we were threatened by harsh and tyrannical treatment by an alien race; THERE WOULD BE NO LACK OF ARMIES, NO DEARTH OF ENLISTMENTS IN ANY QUARTER OF THE UNION.

There is nothing gained by disguising the truth. It is folly to try to hide from hard and fast facts. No matter what the provocation, we would not tolerate the presence of a Mexican army THIS SIDE the Rio Grande five minutes. And dwelling in a glass house, as we do at present, we are in no position to throw stones.

Not in a hundred years has this country been in the remotest danger of foreign invasion. OUR DANGERS ARE FROM WITHIN, NOT FROM WITHOUT. If we were as jealous of the welfare of our citizens here at home as we are when they go abroad, ours would be an ideal habitation.

In this crisis we cannot forbear quoting from Henry George, that sanest of democrats and greatest of prophets since Abraham Lincoln when, twenty-five years ago, as if touching on our identical situation today, he said:

> The dangers to the Republic come not from without, but from within. What menaces her safety is no armada launched from European shores, but the gathering cloud of tramps in her own highways. That Krupp is casting monstrous cannons, and that in Cherbourg and Woolwich projectiles of unheard of destructiveness are being stored, need not alarm her; but there is black omen in the fact that Pennsylvania miners are working for 65 cents a day.
> No triumphant invader can tread our soil till the blight of great estates has brot failure of the crop of men. If there be danger that our cities blaze, it is from torches lit in faction fight, not from foreign shells. Against such dangers forts will not guard us, ironclads protect us, or standing armies prove of any avail.

NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS TODAY
July 2.

Most Rev. W. Mundelein, D. D., Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago and metropolitan of the province of Illinois, is 44 years old today. Archbishop Mundelein is the youngest Catholic archbishop in the United States and probably in the world. He was educated at Manhattan College and at the College of the Propaganda in Rome. His career in the Catholic church has been exceptionally brilliant, and he attracted wide notice by his defence of Pope Pius when the Pontiff's attack on modernism in the church evoked criticism. On being installed as archbishop of Chicago last February, he assumed control of ecclesiastical property worth approximately $50,000,000 and became the spiritual ruler of a community of 1,-[illegible] people. An Anarchistic attempt to poison him and several hundred guests at his inaugural banquet attracted national attention. The would-be assassin, a cook, was never apprehended.

William Le Queux, world traveler and famous English novelist, is 51 years old today. Mr. Le Queux, who has intimate knowledge of Continental affairs, has attracted wide attention since the war by his frank dealing with the situation as regards Britain. One of his books on the war, "Britain's Deadly Peril," was suppressed by the censor in 1915.

Hon. George E. Foss, serving on his tenth term as Republican Congressman from Illinois, for 13 years Chairman of the House Committee on Naval Affairs, 51 years old today.

Safety Gas Iron Campaign

The Modern Safety Gas Iron Company has sent us a crew of Demonstrators who will call on you, and we would like you to try free of charge, the Modern Safety Gas Iron. This Iron has proven one of the most successful Natural Gas Irons on the market. It gives absolutely no fumes and can not be put out unless you turn off the gas. It is made simple that any part that might wear out can be replaced at little cost.

WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU

It saves gas. The average stove burner burns 16 feet of gas an hour. The Gas Irons' burners 3½. It does the work better because it is always clean. It does an ironing in half the time because it is always hot. And it saves you a thousand steps an ironing. It only takes a minute and a half to heat it. It does 10 hours' ironing for one cent.

PEOPLES' FORUM

PLAIN POLITICS

Editor The Tribune:

The only issue up between the two old parties in office. The platforms adopted at the two national conventions are practically the same and were framed for the same ends, viz to fool the voters and please the interests that are expected to put up the means for conducting the campaigns.

The high sounding Americanism which is emphasized in both platforms may mean everything anything or nothing. It voices the cowboy-football element in politics. True Americanism is at present confined to a few reservations of the far west. Very good in some respects but not of a kind that people generally want to take whole or raw, any more than the kind that is held up as true Americanism by some leading men who are personally interested in it.

What issue there is, is not a matter between Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes. It is between the ins and outs from the lowest to the highest offices, not only for the office seekers but for the interests that are seeking to impose obligations that must be paid in pounds of flesh. The country has had a little over three years of Mr. Wilson and knows pretty well what he would do if free to follow his own inclinations. It has very strong evidence that he has been forced from his own views by an immense influence for selfishness and greed.

The influences responsible for the present situation with Mexico framed the "true Americanism" planks in both the old party platforms and they will require the successful candidate of either party to deliver the goods.

That plank was forced upon the old parties by an unsuccessful candidate who was used as a stalking horse for that purpose. Anyone who supposes that the country escaped the devil by nominating Hughes, will, if he is elected, find the country on the shores of the deep sea by the appointment of Roosevelt for Secretary of State.

Why think so? Who was Lincoln's Secretary of State? What was Hayes? Garfield's? Cleveland's? Harrison's? McKinley's? and Wilson's?

Mr. Roosevelt would just as logically be the appointee for the highest cabinet position as any of the above. As Secretary of State he would be in a situation to involve this country in endless and disastrous disputes with foreign nations, and what reason have we for thinking he would not when he has openly expressed himself that way? Not only that, the presidential succession in a contingency would fall to him. Would he hesitate to exercise his authority in putting his militaorist views into practice and force compulsory military service upon the people?

So far as mere men are concerned there is little to choose between Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes. Left to their own inclinations either would give the people a clean, honest administration. Neither is necessary to the country. The influences behind both make both undesirable. Neither one stands for what the majority of the people stand for and the influences back of them were careful to prevent the majority expressing in any way what they do stand for. We know that the working men and farmers are on record against militarism, and that they constitute a majority of the people. Upon them would fall more than all others the calamities and burdens of militarism and war. They have a candidate for president who stands for what they stand for. He has no "pound of flesh" pledged to Greed and Special Privilege. He is openly and frankly opposed to the exploitation of human beings for the benefit of a few aristocrats of wealth.

RAISE THE FLAG.

Editor The Tribune:

While the Mexican question is uppermost in the minds of all loyal citizens, don't you think it opportune to not only encourage but urge the raising of "Old Glory" over factories and business houses and over the homes as well? Personally I feel "young America" is not being taught the meaning of the flag to their own home. It is too much of a "Decoration Day" and "Fourth of July" affair. Every child should be taught to look with pride to the flag that waves over the door of his home—his own stars and stripes. Let each child own a flag.

It will beget in his childhood that swelling of the heart and thrilling of his finer sensibilities that insures to his manhood and undaunted patriotism and an unfaltering loyalty.

I have blushed with shame for grown up American men and women who could not raise their voice in the "Star Spangled Banner" and for those whose hands seemed tied when before them it waved so gallantly. It seems to me, tho, I could not carry the tune in a bushel—I would lift the sentiment somehow when those strains break forth; and tho I had no hands my feet should find expression as the standard would unfurl.

God grant to the succeeding generations an ever increasing pride in the love of our country, our home and our flag.

And now, when the loyal, noble sons of proud mothers, the dutiful husbands of loving wives and the tender fathers of "young Americans" prepare for the call to the colors, it seems to be that Coshocton can warm their hearts too, by raising the colors on the homes and assuring the boys that it will still be unfurled to the breeze when they come marching home—their duty done, the honors won.

If the suggestion is worth anything, The Morning Tribune is surely the proper medium to urge it. You reach the family circle and influence it.

I would thank you kindly for any consideration you may give the foregoing and beg remain,

Very respectfully yours,
E. C. SLAUGHTER.

SOLEMN SANCTITY
By Walt Mason

The world is old, and man still talks, at times, of Adam's starboard ox. When any man's profoundly dead, of him it's usually said, by folks on the adjacent blocks, that he's as dead as Adam's ox. And if a stranger you shall see, and you are asked who he may be, you say, "I give it up, old sox; I know him not from Adam's ox." You say the "off ox," all the time, but that won't fit into this rhyme. Oh, famous beast, immortal ox, whose shade still on this footstool walks! No other brute, since time began, no mouse or mule or mule or man, this effortless has won renown, a fame the ages cannot down! How did you play your bovine game, that you have earned this deathless fame? We hear no word of Adam's hog, of Adam's mule, of Adam's dog; we've no description of his stove, or of the motor car he drove, or of his watch or Sunday hat, or his imported Maltese cat, but his off ox has come to stay; we hear it quoted every day.

HUSBAND SAVED HIS WIFE

Stopped Most Terrible Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Denison, Texas. — "After my little girl was born two years ago I began suffering with female trouble and could hardly do my work. I was very nervous but just kept dragging on until last summer when I got where I could not do my work. I would have a chill every day and hot flashes and dizzy spells and my head would almost burst. I got where I was almost a walking skeleton and life was a burden to me until one day my husband's stepsister told my husband if he did not do something for me I would not last long and told him to get your medicine. So he got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking the first three doses I began to improve. I continued its use, and I have never had any female trouble since. I feel that I owe my life to you and your remedies. They did for me what doctors could not do and I will always praise it wherever I go."—Mrs. G. O. LOWERY, 419 W. Monterey Street, Denison, Texas.

THE CINCINNATI MARKET REVIEW

(By Channer & Sawyer.)

The present securities market situation could be well described as taking a "breathing spell." The activity and advance in market values of securities generally has been very rapid and in some cases furious. The reaction was due, and the greater the reaction the healthier the situation.

Up to the first of April, municipal bonds advanced each week; the demand for them seemingly far exceeding the supply. The advance in values prompted many to sell their municipals and reinvest in high grade corporation securities, yielding a better income.

Short term notes then afforded an excellent vehicle to carry investment funds. The demand for these notes became so great, and commercial money became so low, that corporations generally turned to financing their needs on a permanent basis.

The well secured and carefully safeguarded bonds are very well distributed and one can find but few issues that will yield 6 per cent. The preferred stocks of established corporations of good earning power, ample assets and properly restricted in the issuance, are in strong demand. Undoubtedly this class of stock will continue to grow in favor for the reason that a good preferred stock affords a fair income, and in most cases has nearly as strong a position as a bond.

The most spectacular securities have been those affiliated with the automobile industry. In talking with probably the most prominent figure connected with the automobile industry now before the public, the writer advanced the question as to whether the growth in the production of cars did not foreshadow a dull period within the next two years; the reply was, "I am firmly convinced that the year 1916 is the real start in the growth and expansion of the motor industry and that the automobile is but in its infancy."

From the investments which are being made in new plants, new machinery, contracts which are being entered into for increased tonnage, material and parts, those who are in control of the automobile business are thoroughly satisfied in their own minds that there will be a greater demand for cars, sufficient to justify greatly increased production. Otherwise, they would surely be satisfied with their present large earnings. You can point to the masters of the industry and nearly everyone of them is for expansion.

At this time the purchase of certain stocks, accessory company's stocks and motor company securities, that have had a reaction from the first spurt might well be considered. In our opinion the failure of the consolidation of the Willys, Chalmers and Hudson Companies will mean in the end greater benefit to the securities market in general than it would had the merger gone through. The demand for increased production; for greater income and higher efficiency in operation, and for the economies and savings thus effected will necessarily lead to mergers of companies making parts and accessories.

Those who are fearful of there being a let-up in business due to the cessation of the European war can again take heart from the fact that the new loans which have been arranged by the different countries means that more goods are to be purchased here from additional credits thus established by that loan.

Our Mid-west has not been affected by the general craze for any and all sorts and kinds of securities commonly referred to as "cats" and "dogs." We are more conservative out here and will take our profits slower, satisfied with assured income as against large prospective profits. However, we have not been without our so-called "war babies." There have been large profits made in Ohio Cities Gas common stock, due to the development of the West Virginia and Ohio oil fields. This stock has had a reaction of practically thirty points from its "high," and the earnings are growing each day with new wells producing and others ready to be brought in.

Another security, Cities Service Company, is showing over 20 per cent on the common stock. The large gain in earnings has been partly due to the development of a large oil field in Kansas and Oklahoma.

Both these stocks have had an advance of practically $2[illegible] per share in less than two years.

The development of the process for the extraction of gasoline from natural gas is going to be quite a factor in the earnings of these properties as well as properties like the Columbia Gas and Electric Company.

Business continues to hold up well, although there has been some let up in the urgent demand for material due to war business.

The United States Steel corporation's statement of unfilled orders is good; copper exports for April were over $13,[illegible] as against $11,796,[illegible] for the same month in 1915, which further proves that Europe is still buying, notwithstanding reports to the contrary.

The report on the winter wheat crop is not as good as expected and shows considerable loss, but when one considers that a large surplus of wheat is carried over from the year previous, we are inclined to look upon this as a favorable factor than otherwise. It means higher prices for the farmer. Our other crops look to be normal or up to the ten-year average.

Bible Conference-Training School

The fourth annual session of the Inter-denominational Bible Conference and Training School will be held at New Concord June 25th—August 6th. The purpose of this Conference is to bring within easy reach of the people of southeastern Ohio, the privileges and opportunities which have heretofore been enjoyed only at such places as Winona and Northfield.

An unusually strong program has been prepared for this year. The meeting place is central to the people of this part of Ohio, being on the main line of the B. & O. R. R. and on the old National pike.

The campus of Muskingum college with buildings are at the disposal of the conference. College hill is one thousand feet above sea level, and the shady nooks of the campus, the college lake, tennis courts and athletic field afford a splendid opportunity for a real vacation, while one is receiving the intellectual stimulus and the spiritual refreshment which the conference program will give.

Get the Turnstile Habit.

Let the duty in hand have the right of way. If one is rushed and worried and flurried, it is a sign that one has not learned the soothing effect of the turnstile method. There may be one thousand people coming, but the gateman takes care of just one at a time. For that instant the other 999 are nothing to him.

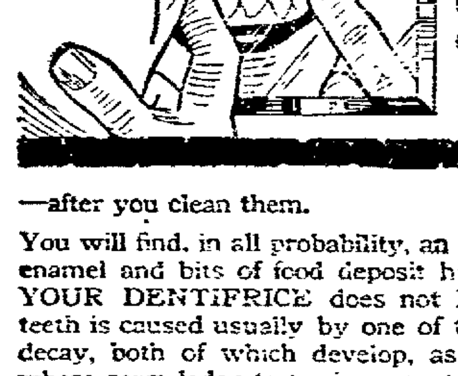

A Test.

When boiled and unboiled eggs get mixed, spin them and the boiled ones will spin around quite fast, while those which have not been cooked will hardly spin round once.

Examine Your TEETH Tonight

You will find, in all probability, an accumulation of tartar on the enamel and bits of food deposit hiding between the crevices. YOUR DENTIFRICE does not FULLY CLEAN! Loss of teeth is caused usually by one of two conditions—Pyorrhea or decay, both of which develop, as a rule, only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

SENRECO, the recently discovered formula of a dental specialist, is two-fold in its action. First, it REALLY CLEANS, employing specially prepared, soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Second, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea. Yet it is perfectly safe, containing neither injurious chemicals nor hard grit.

Avoid Pyorrhea and decay. Get Senreco from your dealer today. In large tubes, 25c. Send 4c to Senreco, 304 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, for liberal-sized trial package.

Mocha and Java.

Once famous for its coffee, Mocha has little left today but its olden name. At that period the Arabian province of Yemen, of which Mocha was the chief seaport, supplied practically all the berries used. At the end of the seventeenth century the coffee plant was introduced into Java and in a short time "Mocha and Java" became a trade name of great popularity.

The Wholesome Onion.

Onions are a specific for the complexion. They should be boiled whole in milk—drink the latter—or steamed and eaten with bread and butter and cheese. Then they make a satisfying and nutritious meal, on which you can do brain work or manual labor. Try onions! The taste and after-smell? A mouthful of hot coffee takes away both.

Early Dynamos.

The principle of electro-magnetic induction, on which the operation of the dynamo-electric machine is based was discovered by Michael Faraday of London in 1831. The first machine to give continuous current was that of Sir Charles Wheatstone, in England, in 1843. One of the earliest successful dynamos was that of Siemens, 1856. Gramme invented the ring winding in 1870.

Bright Steel on Range.

If the steel portions of the cooking range are allowed to become dark they spoil the trim neatness of the kitchen. Powdered pumice stone, or bathbrick, moistened with kerosene make good cleansers for the steel, as a rule, when well rubbed in, though they will not be effective if the metal has actually become oxidized.

Discovery in Efficiency.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I'm going to read poetry after this." "What for?" "It saves so much time. There are so many open spaces in poetry that the time required to read a page is materially shortened."—Washington Star.

Wisdom.

The difference between Manager "Smiling Bill" Donovan of the Yankees and "Wild Bill" Donovan, manager of the Yankees, is the difference between the Yankees winning and losing.

The movies have lost several thrillers this season, such a "Slim" Sallee tearing up his Cardinal contract, Johnny Evers telling John McGraw his opinion of the Giants and their manager, and a picture of "Old Fox" Griffith after the Athletic had taken a lacing from Washington.

The "busy" leaguer will have to start early for their big show, as this season of the college pastimers will have copped all the rookie berths.

The Scarlet Poppy.

The typical flower of the British grain fields is the scarlet poppy. In June when the wheat stalks have not yet reached their full height, many grain fields appear from a distance to have nothing but poppies in them and are a sheet of blazing scarlet. The long deeply cut leaves of the plant, of which each division ends in a bristle, are in themselves handsome.

The First Steam Engines.

The first known use of steam to drive a kind of steam engine was described by Hero of Alexandria, probably in the first or second century B. C. But the first real steam engines were those used at the end of the seventeenth and in the early eighteenth centuries for pumping water out of mines. Newcomen's engine was used in English mines about 1711.

ATTRACTIONS AT MOVIE THEATRES FOR THE WEEK

AT MYSTIC

Monday little Mary Pickford will appear at the Mystic in a great Paramount picture "The Eternal Grind."

Mary Pickford has scored her great successes upon the screen in such productions of the Famous Players Film Company as 'Madame Butterfly' and 'Poor Little Peppina,' in both of which she has assumed the role of a victim of circumstances. In 'The Eternal Grind,' however, Miss Pickford plays a totally different role, certain to become one of her most popular impersonations the capable, undaunted powerful personality which rises unflinchingly to meet every crisis in a life of hardship. She is a factory girl one of whose sisters is a moral weakling and the other a chronic invalid. Against the grasping and brutal owner of the factory in which she is employed, against his vicious young son who victimizes her sister and against the terrible disease that is gradually crushing her other sister, the indomitable will of the resolute factory girl wages ceaseless warfare. It is by far the greatest character which Mrs. Pickford has presented on the screen and one in the ultimate triumph of which every real human heart will rejoice.

Tuesday will be Triangle Day and the drama "The Children in The House" features Norma Talmadge while the Keystone comedy stars Joe Jackson in "The Lion and the Girl."

Wednesday a change of Triangle program will be offered, the drama featuring H. B. Warner in "The Beggar of Cawnpore" and the Keystone star the favorite Mack Swain in "His Bitter Pill."

Thursday is Paramount day, and we have an extraordinary good production "The Love Mask" featuring Clee Ridgely and Wallace Reid.

This is not the week we have a surprise for you as we are going to present the big feature "Damage Goods."

Robert Warwick In 'Human Driftwood'

The management of the Pastime Theatre takes pleasure in making the announcement that on Monday and Tuesday they will show, as the feature of the day, "Human Driftwood," the World Film production, with Robert Warwick and Frances Nelson in the leading roles. The story, as usual is up to the high standard of Warwick vehicles, and one in which Mr Warwick will appear in just the sort of characters as the "fans" like to see him.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN AT UTAHNA THEATRE

The perennial favorite, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," with a famous cast of players, and wonderful photography, featuring Eliza Crossings and Uncle Tom and Little Mary Eline a Little Eva will be shown at the Utahna Theatre Monday, afternoon and evening. There will be a free concert during the entire day by the $1,000 Victrola. The film is made from the world famous story that never grows old, written by Harriet Beech er Stowe.

CARRANZA

Mexican policy:

If the United States cannot maintain a big enough force to protect its borders, how can Mexico be held responsible?

The bandit raids at Bay Springs and other Texas towns are attributable to the neglect of the United States to protect its frontiers.

The presence of the United States troops in Mexico serves to cause more raids by enemies of the de facto government, seeking to stir up war.

Why Huerta Arrested

The United States caused the arrest of Huerta only because it feared he had connection with Germany.

The pursuit of Villa was started six days too late.

The United States, by placing an embargo on arms, is trying to prevent the de facto government from preserving order.

The administration has maintained a haughty attitude and been discourteous in its notes.

The Mexican government has a right to demand withdrawal of the United States troops because they have no right there.

140 Mexicans Murdered

The note says, "It seems strange the department of state should show surprise and disappointment for the one and character of the note of the 3rd of May, which it calls discourteous, when the very same department of state has sent to the constitutional government not one, but many notes, not only discourteous, but also haughty, to say the least.

"During the period to which the note alludes 140 Mexicans have been murdered in United States territory by American civilians and the same government authorities have also participated, and, in none of those cases, altho representations have been made to the department of state, have the guilty ever been brot to justice or punished."

Charges Are Denied

The Carranza reply gives the he denies that the hrdleutaoishrdluetaoinshrdlu rect to the administration's charge that the Mexican government has protected criminals, saying, "It is not true the Mexican government or its authorities have protected or covered the criminals, who are claimed to have committed depredations and crimes in United States territory. This can never be proven."

Again the note directly attacks the administration charges that the Carranza government was not anxious to aid in the suppression of Villa, saying: "It is a gratuitous imputation of the American government that the Constitutionalist government was not anxious to end these incursions or to punish the guilty for the crimes committed. It is an established fact the incident at Parral was precipitated by the imprudent act of the American commander.

"It is inexact, in every manner of form, the imputation of lack of loyalty on the part of Carranzista troops which is referred to in the note."

Sixty Veterans Offer Service

Sixty Coshocton vets who saw service in the Civil war have offered their services to Secretary of War Baker for service in the Mexican trouble at any post or barracks. Their names were forwarded to the secretary by V. H. Thomson. Because of advanced age the veterans are physically unable to take up active field service.

Atty. Williams Renews Offer

Following the street demonstration last night to secure recruits for Coshocton's new O. N. G. Company A, of the 10th, Attorney Levi Williams, in spite of the scare, again announced his willingness to marry Coshocton's first war bride free of charge and also to make the happy couple a wedding present of a $5 bill. Who will be the blushing maid who will lead her intended to the justice office is the question now puzzling the patriotic squire.

Crawford From Monroe County Here Saturday

George S. Crawford, of Graysville, Monroe county, spent Saturday in Coshocton calling on his Democratic friends in the interest of his candidacy for the nomination for state senator from the 15th-12th district. Mr. Crawford is well known farmer. He taught school for several years and was representative from his county to the 50th and 51st general assemblies.

Mr. Crawford feels that Monroe county has good claim for consideration for the senatorship as she has not been represented in the senate since A. J. Pearson served from Monroe in 1887. He is making a clear cut canvass.

Another Bank For Dresden?

Two separate groups of capitalists are investigating Dresden as a location for a new bank. It is understood that in event one group invests, the other will not consider the proposition further, for it is conceded that two banks are enough for the town.

There is one bank in Dresden at present; the Dresden Savings Bank company, an old institution. The Dresden National bank was closed by the government on July 12, 1915, and is now in course of liquidation, as is generally well known.

It is understood that Loudonville capitalists are favorably impressed with the Dresden field and have been there quietly investigating the prospects.

Samuel Frazier, Black Run capitalist, has for some time been investigating the prospects for another bank in Dresden, and it is understood that he is willing to invest a considerable sum in the business.

It is not known whether Coshocton and Cambridge capitalists are interested with either the Loudonville or Cambridge parties.
